Across many business sectors being aware of a company's Environmental Impact is becoming important to clients, the building trade is no exception. Munster Joinery (UK) Ltd was looking for assistance in implementing an Environmental Management System that would gain accredited certification to ISO14001:2004. On speaking to Profit Through Change Ltd they understood our requirements and provided us with confidence that certification could be gained within the timescales.

Profit Through Change Ltd integrated a bespoke Environmental Management System with our ISO9001:2008 Quality System, explaining to us as we went what was required and how to go about it. They created bespoke forms and data capture tools, provided in house training for staff, talked to the Environment Agency and other parties on our behalf and helped us negotiate the minefield of regulations.

We achieved Certification to ISO14001:2004 in July 2010 and this has enabled us to provide evidence to our clients of our environmental commitment, allowed us to bid for tenders where proving your environmental credentials are part of the conditions of tender and enhanced brand prestige.

Profit Through Change Ltd has provided us with a smooth, personal service and we would recommend them to any business looking for help in gaining certification to International Standards.
